

PEGASUS

A remarkable development situated on Queensland’s Gold Coast is being engineered by Bonacci Group’s Sydney office. The twin tower Pegasus apartment and commercial development will be located on a prominent highway site at Broadbeach.

The two towers will be built on more than 8,600 square meters of land, with frontages to the Gold Coast Highway, Surf Parade and Elizabeth Avenue. The two towers are fully connected over ten levels starting at level 11. A complex piled raft foundation was designed for various stages of construction to ensure differential settlements between the two towers met with the design specification and tolerances.
